Overview

Students are more likely to seek help, report abuse, and connect with support if they feel they have a trusted adult to confide in. Protecting Our Youth is an interactive simulation for educators and school staff that embraces compliance training, upstream prevention, and proactive strategies.

The conversation strategies conveyed in this practice-based program promote trusted connections, help-seeking, reporting and referring to appropriate resources in two lessons. The first lesson, Abuse & Neglect, teaches the learner about the different types of child abuse and child maltreatment and allows them to practice their skills through trauma-informed conversation with a virtual child who discloses abuse. The second lesson, Trafficking, contains an overview of human trafficking and strategies to identify and potentially prevent occurrences of human trafficking.
